Intern (m/f) in Economic Research

Your new duties and responsibilities

Economic Research works on a wide range of topics potentially affecting Allianz: Covering the current and future situation of insurance- and wealth markets worldwide as well as global trends and economic forecasts. An internship in Economic Research gives you the perfect opportunity to learn more about the structure and reality of one of the biggest financial services providers worldwide. As an intern you will support our team in preparing economic scenarios and strategic options. Your responsibilities will include:

- Conducting research and collecting data
- Executing analyses and discussing results
- Developing presentations to facilitate decisions by the board of management

You will work independently with guidance from experienced consultants and your personal mentor. At the end of your internship you will give a presentation on a topic of your choice.

Required qualifications and experience

Qualifications

- You are at an advanced stage of your degree (any discipline) and have a proven academic record
- Excellent MS Office skills, especially PowerPoint and Excel
- Fluent English

Experience

- International work/academic experience
- Ability to quickly grasp, analyze and evaluate complex processes and issues
- Ability to communicate in a clear, well structured manner
- Accurate and precise way of working, even under time pressure
- Innovative and creative thinker
- Client-oriented, constructive team player

Additional Information

Each year, we recruit three to four students for internships lasting three to four months, based in either Munich or Frankfurt. If you are interested in the position, please submit your application online. Please include your CV, school and university certificates and any references, as well as information about the subjects you are studying, and proof of your student status for the duration of the internship.

Successful applicants will be invited to Munich or Frankfurt for an interview, or contacted for a telephone interview.
We are looking forward to receiving your application.
